

Call for Papers
Schelling and Philosophies of the Earth

Sixth Annual Meeting of the North American Schelling Society

5-8 September 2018
Volcanoes National Park, Hawai'i

NASS invites presentations on vulcanism, the world-soul, and the powers of nature, and their relationships to other areas of Schelling's philosophy. Submissions on other topics related to Schelling studies are also welcome. Papers may be presented in English, French, German or Spanish. Conference events and lodging will be located inside Volcanoes National Park on the Big Island of Hawai'i. The venue is remote, but transportation from the Hilo airport to the park will be available. NASS deplors the U.S. government's recent travel restrictions and will work with presenters to help secure visas.

Send 500-word proposals for thirty-minute presentations, prepared for blind review, to Chris Lauer (lauer3@hawaii.edu) by January 22, 2018. Acceptance letters will be sent by February 8, 2018.
